TABLE OF CONTENTS

Opening the Interview:

After obtaining verbal consent to participate from your subject and noting this consent where indicated in your scoring booklet, say:

I am going to ask you different questions about your life, health, and behavior.

Now before I begin with specific questions, do you think you could tell me a little about yourself?

Give the subject a few seconds to begin. Let the subject direct the flow of information here. If the subject asks you where s/he should begin, you can offer the following prompts:

Well, maybe you could begin by telling me where you live, who you live with, the kind of work you're doing or have done, what kinds of things you like to do in your free time.

Then let the subject speak. Do not probe for details at this time. However, before you begin the demographics section, make sure you have some information about the subject's worklife, if any, homelife, special interests and what the subject likes to do in his/her free time. Record all information on the facing page provided.

Listen carefully to your subject and as the subject speaks think about what the subject is saying. This is your chance to begin to know your subject. This is also a very important time for your subject, because the focus here is on "normal" daily activities, rather than pathology. If your subject feels that you have a sense of her/him as a person, it is more likely that your subject will give you accurate information about his/her difficulties. Although this section may be only 5-10 minutes in length, it is one of the most important sections of the interview.

When you feel you have a sense of your subject and the kind of life s/he leads, begin the first question in the demographics section. Whenever you come across a question the subject has already answered (such as marital status, job status, number of children) confirm with the subject your understanding of the information, and let your subject correct you, if necessary.

Ask if student missed any class time due to psychopathology and rate accordingly.

Let's think about your work in the last five years, that is since (date five years prior to interview date).

1. INTRODUCTORY PROBE

Similar to the general overview of your subject's life in Section A, this section is very important because it can provide you with a general guide to your subject's psychopathology. In the course of this overview, you must get treatment information indicated below. Begin this section by saying something such as:

> Now I would like to begin to get an idea of difficulties you may have had in your life. I'd like to know if there have ever been times in your life when you weren't your "normal" self, or when your feelings got out of your control, or when you began acting in ways that you didn't understand?

If the subject asks, "like what?" say:

> Well, any times when you were very, very sad, or times when you were so active you couldn't slow down, or times when fear or anxiety interrupted your life, or times when you couldn't control your thoughts or feelings or had problems with drinking or drugs.

If necessary repeat or rephrase the probe.

If the subject answers "no," then say:

> Well, I'd like to ask you a few more specific questions about that...

and proceed to the questions regarding treatment.

If the subject answers "yes," say:

> Tell me when those times were, and tell me, in a general way, what was troubling you at those times.

Sometimes subjects can give you a very thorough and accurate overview of their periods of difficulty. Don't hurry the subject if s/he spontaneously gives you specific information about the onset and offset and the type of problem. However, DO NOT collect great detail regarding specific symptoms, but enough to make a tentative differential diagnosis. You will cover that later in the interview. As you get information on periods of difficulty, always ask about treatment for the difficulty being described and record below as indicated.

If a subject cannot give you specific information on the general type of difficulty s/he was having, onset and offset, and instead, tends to ramble about general life problems, proceed to the treatment questions and let those structure the information you collect.

Record all information about difficulties on the facing page provided. Score treatment questions as indicated.

3. MEDICATIONS

Have you ever taken any medication because of the way you were feeling or behaving? Medications such as sleeping pills, tranquilizers, pills to give you more energy or make you think more clearly?

IF YES: What were the names of the medications you were taking? Circle all those that apply. Then say: Sometimes people forget medications they've taken in the past. I'm going to read you a list of medications and I want you to tell me if you've ever been prescribed any of these or if you've ever taken any of these. Read highlighted names unless subject states that s/he is unable to remember a drug previously taken. In this case, read all names in relevant categories.

Periods of dysphoric mood are categorized as Major Depression if they are relatively discrete and are associated with other symptoms of the disorder. These categories are distinguished from Generalized Anxiety Disorder, in which there is a clear predominance of anxious mood.

Note: In DSM-III-R, an episode is defined as a grief reaction if the onset follows the death of someone close even if depressive symptoms are of sufficient duration and number to meet criteria for a major depressive episode. The DSM-III-R does not specify a maximum duration criterion for grief reaction. In DSM-IV, the depressive symptoms of bereavement should not persist more than 2 months to qualify as a grief reaction. For both DSM-III-R and DSM-IV, feelings of worthlessness, psychomotor retardation, suicidal ideation, marked functional impairment or psychosis following the death of a loved one suggest the presence of Major Depression.
A period of Major Depression may be the only disturbance or may be superimposed upon another psychiatric disorder.

1. PANIC ATTACKS

Determine if the subject has ever had panic attacks, i.e., at least 1 circumscribed episode of intense fear or apprehension with sudden onset (not associated with life threatening or clearly frightening situations or due to a known physical cause such as amphetamine use or hyperthyroidism) accompanied by at least 2 of the associated symptoms below, which reaches peak intensity within 10-15 minutes.

Ask all of the questions even if sudden, intense anxiety is denied or different terms are used in association with the physical symptoms.

In this section, we will focus on feelings of anxiety. By anxiety I mean tense, jittery or nervous feelings. Some people have sudden periods or "attacks" of anxiety that build up very rapidly to a peak of extreme terror or panic. Sometimes these attacks seem to come "out-of-the-blue", that is unexpectedly for no apparent reason. At other times, attacks are associated with certain situations.

A. Screening Questions

In this section, we will first discuss sudden spontaneous attacks. Attacks associated with situations will be discussed later.

Have you ever had periods when suddenly, out of the blue, you felt very anxious, fearful and uncomfortable--a surge of fear or terror that reached a peak very rapidly? (Was there anything particularly frightening going on at the time? Had you been taking drugs or exercising? Were there other times?)

1	No Information
2	Never had sudden anxiety
3	Never except in a life-threatening, clearly frightening situation (this does not include phobic situation)
4	Yes, only when under physical exertion
5	Yes, only when on drugs
6	Yes, other than above

SKIP TO NEAR PANIC PAGE 71

B. Chronology

The interviewer should ask the subject to describe the first spontaneous attack, then ask about the worst and the usual attacks and code below. Also ask how long it took for the symptoms to reach a peak. Clarify the difference between spontaneous, situationally predisposed, and situationally bound attacks. Determine when attacks began and how many, if any, periods of remission have occurred.

2. NEAR PANIC ATTACKS

Determine if the subject has had somatic only "panic attacks" which consist of sudden onset of physical symptoms such as shortness of breath, palpitations and dizziness which build up rapidly and peak within 10 minutes and go away. Distinguish that there is no accompanying panic or sudden anxiety of any sort. If subject describes fear of any kind such as fear of going crazy or losing control or dying during the attack, this is considered a panic attack or limited symptom attack.

A. Introductory Probe and Screening Questions

IF EVER HAD PANIC DISORDER, PANIC ATTACKS OR LIMITED SYMPTOM ATTACKS SKIP TO AGORAPHOBIA PAGE 79.

In the last section we talked about sudden attacks of fear, anxiety or panic which come out of the blue and build up rapidly to a peak within a few minutes. This section deals with another type of attack which comes on suddenly and builds up rapidly and peaks within a few minutes. This attack consists of only physical symptoms, for instance having your heart race suddenly and feeling short of breath for no particular reason. These symptoms quickly peak and go away. Has anything like that ever happened to you?

If subject describes any type of fear or anxiety present in the somatic only attack, then go back to the panic disorder section and change the screening item to yes and code section. Enter this section only if subject never had any kind of attack of sudden intense anxiety.

1. AGORAPHOBIA

If subject has had Panic Disorder, panic attacks, limited symptom attacks or near panic attacks determine the avoidance behavior associated with these attacks.
If subject has no history of any type of panic or near panic attack, determine if he/she has ever felt uncomfortable, afraid or avoided situations because of a fear of panic-like symptoms where escape might be difficult or embarrassing.

A. Screening Questions

IF HAS HAD PANIC DISORDER OR PANIC ATTACKS, LIMITED SYMPTOM ATTACKS OR NEAR PANIC ATTACKS ASK:

Since you have been having panic attacks, are there any situations like driving, flying, crowds or being alone which make you nervous or uncomfortable or you avoid for fear of having an attack?

IF HAS NEVER HAD ANY PANIC ATTACKS OF ANY SORT, ASK:

Are there any situations which make you nervous or uncomfortable or you avoid like driving, crowds, enclosed places, traveling, being alone or doing things by yourself?

1	NA/No Information
2	No: evidence of fear, avoidance or endurance with dread
3	Yes: Some evidence of fear, avoidance or endurance with dread

This condensed screening is used to shorten the length of the time needed to score the Phobia section. Use the scale point levels noted below to rate the greatest level of severity of avoidance EVER manifested. If the specific situation has a 5 or higher, the remainder of the line should be completed.

If no fear of "5" or higher SKIP TO SOCIAL PHOBIA PAGE 93

a. Fear is persistent and due to a circumscribed stimulus.
b. Exposure almost invariably produces an immediate anxiety response.
c. Stimulus is avoided or endured with intense anxiety.
d. Fear significantly interferes with normal routine, social activities or relationships, or there is marked distress about having the fear.
e. Person recognizes that the fear is irrational.
f. Stimulus is unrelated to symptoms of Obsessive Compulsive Disorder or symptoms of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder.

For episodes occurring at age 18 and younger, duration should be at least 6 months.

Note: Do not include fears that are part of Panic Disorder with Agoraphobia, or Agoraphobia without history of Panic Disorder. Exposure during the phobic period (and subsequent anxiety response) is required for diagnosis. Imagined fear is not enough.

Determine if subject has ever had obsessions (recurrent and persistent ideas, thoughts, impulses or images that are intrusive and senseless and which the subject attempts to ignore, suppress or neutralize with some thought or action) or compulsions (repetitive, purposeful and intentional behaviors that are performed in response to an obsession or according to certain rules or in a stereotyped fashion; that are designed to neutralize or to prevent discomfort or some dreaded event or situation and that the subject recognizes as excessive or unreasonable).

A. Screening Questions

1. Have you ever been bothered by thoughts that kept coming back to you, that didn't make sense, that you couldn't get rid of or put out of your mind?
For example: the idea that your hands are dirty or contaminated even though you just washed them or that something terrible might happen to you or someone else?
Obsessive thoughts are usually experienced by subject as irrational and disruptive; (distinguish from brooding as in a mood disorder).

1 NA/NO INFORMATION
2 NO
3 YES

2. Have you ever had to repeat some act over and over which you could not resist repeating-like constantly washing your hands, counting things, or checking on things? Were these acts purposeful and intentional? Did you have to perform the rituals in order to prevent something from happening or do them in a certain way?
Compulsive acts are usually experienced by subject as irrational and disruptive.

2 NO
3 YES

Determine if subject has had a catastrophic experience which anyone would find stressful and which is not a usual lifetime occurrence (e.g., serious car accident, plane crash, surviving active combat or terrorist bombing, being caught in an earthquake, etc.). Or, if the subject had been exposed to a traumatic event in which the subject or somebody close to the subject was confronted with threat of severe injury or death (e.g., violent death of a close relative, victim of violent assault or violent abuse at home).

A. Screening Questions

1. OCCURRENCE OF TRAUMATIC EVENT

Have you ever had an unusually frightening or violent experience?

Have you been involved in a serious accident or disaster (e.g., fire, earthquake)?

Have you (or close family or friends) ever been the victim or witness of a violent or sexual crime (e.g., kidnaping, serious beating, murder, rape, domestic violence)?

Has there ever been a serious threat of these?

B. Chronology

At this point, the interviewer should establish chronology for him/herself regarding the onset of specific events and the person's reactions subsequent to the traumatic event.

CHARACTERIZATION OF A TRAUMATIC EVENT: SOME INDIVIDUALS MAY REPORT MORE THAN 1 EVENT WHICH MEETS CRITERIA. EACH EVENT SHOULD BE LISTED SEPARATELY IN CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER (E.G., EVENT 1 = EVENT WHICH OCCURRED CHRONOLOGICALLY FIRST, EVENT 2 =CHRONOLOGICALLY NEXT). THEN ASK THE PERSON TO DEFINE WHICH EVENT WAS THE WORST AND HAD THE MOST LASTING EFFECT.

The essential feature of this disorder is excessive anxiety and worry occurring more days than not for at least 6 months, and which the subject finds difficult to control.

A. Screening Questions

Have you ever had a period when you were persistently anxious, nervous, tense or jittery most of the time for at least 6 months?

1	NA/NO INFORMATION
2	NO
3	YES

SKIP TO ALCOHOL USE DISORDER, PAGE 120

B. Chronology

Interviewer should determine if the excessive worry concerned at least two life circumstances. Also, determine the onset and duration of each episode of anxiety as well as which episode was the worst. Finally, establish what events were occurring in the subject's life which may account for the symptoms. If there is more than one episode, establish which is worst. Please describe below.

C. Symptom Review

Note: Interviewer should keep in mind that a clinically significant rating of GAD symptoms should be at the "more days than not " level and should be coded as "4".

We will talk about the worst 6 month period of excessive worry that you had about at least two life circumstances.

A. Patterns of Smoking

Note to Interviewer:
Nicotine use should be assessed over life-time regardless of whether this is a life-time or catch-up interview.

Now some questions about using tobacco:

Have you in your entire life ever smoked 5 packs (100 cigarettes) or more?

(Note to interviewer: Each pack contains 20 cigarettes.)

1. HAS SMOKED 5 OR MORE TIMES PACKS, OR USED TOBACCO 5 OR MORE TIMES

This category is for subjects with a chronic or recurrent disorder characterized by a failure to conform to social norms in many areas always beginning in the early teens (or earlier) and persisting into adulthood. The diagnosis should not be made in individuals below the age of 18. If the subject has had a serious alcohol or drug problem, the diagnosis of Antisocial Personality Disorder is not made unless signs of the disorder were also present in childhood and continued in adulthood. If both disorders began in childhood, both disorders should be diagnosed. Do not count symptoms that occur in the context of mania or schizophrenia.

Suicidal tendencies, including preoccupation with thoughts of death or suicide. (Do not include mere fears of dying. Rate the worst episode in past and in past month).

A. Screening Questions

If no knowledge of suicidality ask:
1.Have you ever wished you were dead or thought about dying or even killing yourself?

Have you thought how you would do it? Have you told anybody about your suicidal thoughts?

Have you actually done anything?

Ever? (Circle appropriate number)

If ever suicidal ask:
You mentioned earlier that you felt like/attempted to harm yourself. How many times have you felt like that?

1	No Information
2	Not at all
3	Slight, e.g., occasional thoughts of his/her death (without suicidal thoughts), "I would be better off dead" or "I wish I were dead"
4	Mild, e.g., frequent thoughts that he/she would be better off dead or occasional thoughts of suicide but has not thought of a specific method
5	Moderate, e.g., often thinks of suicide or has thought of a specific method
6	Severe, e.g., often thinks of suicide and has thought of, or mentally rehearsed a specific plan or has made a suicidal gesture
7	Extreme, e.g., has made preparations for a potentially serious suicidal attempt
8	Very extreme, e.g., suicide attempt with definite intent to die or behavior potentially medically harmful

2. In the past month? Use above ratings

2. SUICIDAL INTENT AT TIME OF MOST SERIOUS ATTEMPT

Determine circumstances and rate seriousness of intent for the most serious attempt by considering such factors as likelihood of being rescued, precautions against discovery, acting to gain help during or after attempt, degree of planning of attempt, and the apparent purpose of attempt (manipulative versus killing self).

1 No information or not sure
2 Obviously no intent, purely manipulative gesture
3 Not sure or only minimal intent
4 Definite but very ambivalent
5 Serious
6 Very serious
7 Extreme (careful planning and every expectation of death)

3. ACTUAL MEDICAL THREAT TO LIFE OR PHYSICAL CONDITION FOLLOWING THE MOST SERIOUS GESTURE(S) OR ATTEMPT(S)

Consider the method (gunshot wound more serious than knife wound), impaired consciousness at or during time of rescue, seriousness of lesion or toxicity of ingested substances, reversibility (amount of time expected for complete recovery), and amount of treatment required. NOTE ages, circumstances of attempts.

1 No information or not sure
2 No danger, e.g., held pills in hand
3 Minimal, e.g., scratch on wrist
4 Mild, e.g., took 10 aspirins, mild gastritis
5 Moderate, e.g., took 10 seconals briefly unconscious
6 Severe, e.g., cut throat
7 Extreme, e.g., respiratory arrest or prolonged coma

ADULT GLOBAL ASSESSMENT SCALE

Rate the subject's lowest level of functioning in the last week by selecting the lowest range which describes the subjects functioning on a hypothetical continuum of mental health-illness. For example, a subject whose "behavior is considerably influenced by delusions" (range 21-30) should be given a rating in that range even though he has "major impairment in several areas" (range 31-40). Use intermediary levels when appropriate (eg, 35, 58, 63). Rate actual functioning independent of whether or not subject is receiving and may be helped by medication or some other form of treatment.

☐☐☐ CURRENT

Rate the subject's level of general functioning for the past two weeks by selecting the level which describes his/her functioning on hypothetical continuum of health-illness.

☐☐☐ MOST SEVERE

Rate the subject's level of general functioning during his/her most severe past episode of psychiatric illness.

☐☐☐ Record age at most severe level of functioning.

☐☐☐ HIGHEST PAST

During the past year, rate the highest level of functioning.

100 - 91	No symptoms, superior functioning in a wide range of activities, life's problems never seem to get out of hand, is sought out by others because of his warmth and integrity.
90 - 81	Transient symptoms may occur, but good functioning in all areas, interested and involved in a wide range of activities, socially effective, generally satisfied with life, "everyday" worries that only occasionally get out of hand.
80 - 71	Minimal symptoms may be present but no more than slight impairment in functioning, varying degrees of "everyday" worries and problems that sometimes get out of hand.
70 - 61	Some mild symptoms (eg, depressive mood and mild insomnia) OR some difficulty in several areas of functioning, but generally functioning pretty well, has some meaningful interpersonal relationships and most untrained people would not consider subject "sick."
60 - 51	Moderate symptoms OR generally functioning with some difficulty (eg, few friends and flat affect, depressed mood, and pathological self-doubt, euphoric mood and pressure of speech, moderately severe antisocial behavior).
50 - 41	Any serious symptomatology or impairment in functioning that most clinicians would think obviously requires treatment or attention (eg, suicidal preoccupation or gesture, severe obsessional rituals, frequent anxiety attacks, serious antisocial behavior, compulsive drinking).
40 - 31	Major impairment in several areas, such as work, family relations, judgment, thinking, or mood (eg, depressed woman avoids friends, neglects family, unable to do housework), OR some impairment in reality testing or communication (eg, speech is at times obscure, illogical, or irrelevant), OR single serious suicide attempt.
30 - 21	Unable to function in almost all areas (eg, stays in bed all day), OR behavior is considerably influenced by either delusions or hallucinations, OR serious impairment in communication (eg, sometimes incoherent or unresponsive) or judgment (eg, acts grossly inappropriately).
20 - 11	Needs some supervision to prevent hurting self or others, or to maintain minimal personal hygiene (eg, repeated suicide attempts, frequently violent, manic excitement, smears feces), OR gross impairment in communication (eg, largely incoherent or mute).
10 - 1	Needs constant supervision for several days to prevent hurting self or others, or makes no attempt to maintain minimal personal hygiene.
0	Inadequate information.
